

DID YOU KNOW . . . ?

In 2021, SFNC's partnership with the Baltimore Ravens was strengthened. SOSE students even had the opportunity to visit the Baltimore Ravens Training Camp!

The Black Beyond Data Reading Group was hosted on a monthly basis for 89 participants and was aimed at using Black community-based data analytics to critically research social issues to initiate transformative change.

Since the start of COVID, we've helped thousands of individuals navigate various crises through the Amanda Taylor Emergency Fund. Now, we are working on replenishing this vital resource for our community.

A YEAR OF MILESTONES

SEPT 13 ^{Golf} Invitational

We held our First Annual Golf Invitational at Mountain Branch Golf Course and were able to engage over 80 golfers while also raising over $80K for our Capital Campaign! This was our first fundraiser of the year where we could be in-person due to the pandemic.

OCT 2 ^{Grand} Re-Opening

Following the completion of Phase I of our expansion, we re-opened our doors for the first time since 2018 to an energized crowd of 300+ people, including

Mayor Brandon Scott, Councilman James Torrence, City Council President Nick Mosby, and Senator Antonio Hayes.

We debuted a new name and logo for our high school intern program! The name, inspired by The Power Project, is intended to empower the interns specifically. We also have started to develop a funnel between the middle school students and the high school program by including a music analysis class, a fashion show project, and a service learning opportunity while also strengthening the mentorship aspect of the program through renewed community partnerships.

In an effort to address COVID and learning loss, we were able to continue virtual tutoring services. Summer 2021 marked the first time our students came back to the program, at least partially in-person, since the start of the pandemic. Students were engaged with weekly field trips, a dynamic schedule of enrichment classes, service-learning, and increased opportunities for social emotional learning.

Enrichment classes included cooking/nutrition, African drums, STEM, art, drama, and yoga, plus collaborations with program partners such as Whitelock Community Farm, PeacePlayers, and So What Else.

100% of students had access to one-on-one tutoring in reading, math, or language arts, two times per program week

100% of students and program families had access to transportation to get vaccinated

100% of students had access to an emergency relief fund to be used in times of urgent need

100% of participating SOSE 2021 students were given a laptop for the hybrid program, plus access to tech support and enrichment supply kit deliveries

100% of students received meals weekly

Utilizing our new & expanded space, our 75 Power Project students were able to participate in COVID-safe holiday celebrations, such as our Fall Festival, featuring themed activities + special meals!
